Arvoisa vastaanottaja!

Tässä kirjeessä paljon linkkejä, joissa käsitellään nykyaikaista aseteollisuutta. Tänä päivänä – Hiroshiman muistopäivänä – tämä on hyvä pitää mielessä. Emmehän halua tuhota maapalloamme lopullisesti.

IRANIN SOTA JATKUU

- * Useimmat amerikkalaiset sanovat, että Iranin sota ei ole ollut taistelemisen arvoinen. Jopa 37 % republikaaneista eivät kannata Iranin sotaa. Linkki 1
- * Heinäkuun loppupuolella Yhdysvallat iski siviili-infrastruktuuriin laajentaessaan iskujaan Irania vastaan. Linkki 16

ILMASTONMUUTOS JA RAJUT METSÄPALOT

- * Euroopan komission varapuheenjohtaja Teresa Ribera hyökkäsi rajusti ilmastonmuutoksen kieltäjiä vastaan. Linkki 2

TEKOÄLY SEN KÄYTTÖ JA DATAKESKUKSET USA:SSA

- * Datakeskukset jakavat demokraattien mielipiteitä Michiganin esivaaleissa. Datakeskukset herättävät vihaa siitä, että ne kuluttavat valtavia energioresursseja tekoälybuumin vauhdittamiseksi, johon suhtaudutaan yhä skeptisemmin. Linkki 3
- * NATO hyödyntää tekoäly-yrityksiä mullistamaan armeijan päätöksentekoa. Ne kehittävät ja esittelevät tekoäly- ja koneoppimisohjelmistoja – järjestelmiä, jotka pystyvät analysoimaan suuria määriä dataa ja oppimaan malleja – jotka on suunniteltu tukemaan NATOn operaatiosuunnittelua ja -toteutusta. Linkki 18

GAZA JA MITÄ SIELLÄ EDELLEEN TAPAHTUU

- * Trumpin entinen kampanjapäällikkö Brad Parscale valvoo operaatiota, jossa julkaistaan satoja blogikirjoituksia Israelin puolesta tavoitteenaan soluttautua tekoälyyn ja Israel maksaa miljoonia tekoälychatbottien kouluttamisesta. Linkki 4
- * Ranskalainen europarlamentaarikko Rima Hassan joutui oikeudenkäyntiin puolustettuaan palestiinalaisten oikeutta vastustaa miehitystä. Linkki 8
- * Pelastakaa Lapset järjestön mukaan Gazan lapset maksavat edelleen kovaa hintaa, sillä yli 74 000 lapsen odotetaan kärsivän akuutista aliravitsemuksesta tulevana kuukausina. Linkki 9
- * Yhdeksän kuukautta kestäneen niin kutsutun "tulitauon" jälkeen Hamasin kanssa Israel jatkaa sen rikkomista lähes päivittäin. Linkki 15

INTIA JA OPISKELIJOIDEN DEMOKRATIA

- * Torakkademokratia. Sen ensimmäinen vaatimus oli Dharmendra Pradhanin, opetusministerin, eroaminen. Pradhan istuu ylimielisenä korruptoituneen ja mädäntyneen ministeriön johdossa, jossa julkiset kokeet vuotavat säännöllisesti. Linkit 6 ja 10

YDINASEET, PELKO JA TEKOÄLY

- * Yksikään hallitus tai strategi ei tällä hetkellä kannata tekoälyn ottavan

vastuuta ydinlaukaisupäätöksistä. Tekoäly muuttaa hallitusten lähestymistapaa kansalliseen turvallisuuteen. Se muokkaa tiedusteluanalyysiä, varhaisvaroitusjärjestelmiä ja sotilaallista päätöksentekoa. Sen kasvava rooli ydinaseiden alalla on herättänyt pelkoja tulevaisuudesta, jossa koneet päättävät laukaista ydinaseita. Linkit 12 ja 19

USA:N ULKOMINISTERIN JA RAUHANJÄRJESTÖJEN ULOSTULOT

* Ulkoministeri Marco Rubio retoriikka ja kampanjointi rajoittaa laillista mielenosoitusoikeutta ja poliittista arvostelua. Kohta kukaan ei uskolla puhua ja toimia rauhan puolesta. Linkki 14

* Yhdysvaltain rauhanjärjestöt kehottavat drone-operaattoreita kieltäytymään lentämisestä valvonta-, kohdistus- ja hyökkäystehtävissä Irania ja Karibian ja Itä-Tyynenmeren merimiehiä vastaan. Linkki 21

In her interview with Euronews, Ribera took aim at 'dangerous and stupid' European politicians who cast doubt on climate science and dismiss environmental policies as ideological rather than grounded in evidence.

European Commission Executive Vice-President Teresa Ribera launched a fierce attack against climate deniers, accusing politicians who dismiss the link between global warming and Europe's devastating wildfires of "lying to people" and putting lives at risk. ...

Drop Site News – July 29, 2026 - Data Centers Divide Democrats in Michigan Primary

Senate candidates offer conflicting visions over the role of A.I. and corporate power.

Over the past year, dim, windowless, gargantuan warehouses have taken center stage in rural Michigan. The data centers draw ire for consuming vast energy resources to fuel an artificial intelligence boom viewed with increased skepticism. They have spiked utility bills, guzzled the region's fresh water, occupied large tracts of land, and emitted a hum so constant that some residents have sued over excessive noise. ...

Drop Site News – July 28, 2026 - Israel Is Paying Millions to Train AI Chatbots How to Talk About Gaza. It's Working.

Former Trump campaign manager Brad Parscale is overseeing an operation posting hundreds of blog posts on behalf of Israel, with the goal of infiltrating artificial intelligence.

Since October, former Trump campaign manager Brad Parscale has been quietly overseeing an operation posting hundreds of blog posts on behalf of Israel.

One article, titled "The Reality Behind Gaza's 'Journalists': Terror Ties, Propaganda, and the Laws of War," asserts that a majority of journalists in Gaza were linked to terrorist organizations. Another casts doubt on the killing of Hind Rajab, a five-year-old Palestinian girl killed by the Israeli military in 2024.

The key intended audience of these sites is not concerned Americans, it's not even humans—most of the sites average a few hundred unique visitors each month. Instead, Parscale and his firm, Clock Tower X, created them as part of a $46.5 million contract with the Israeli government to try and influence artificial intelligence-powered chatbots, tools like Claude or ChatGPT. ...

The Nation - July 28, 2026 - Zohran Mamdani and the Politics of Joy

And it's backed up by actions and initiatives that seem designed to genuinely foster a joyful city.

During his mayoral run, Zohran Mamdani's opponents warned that he was inexperienced, idealistic, and sure to be ineffective. But, just over six months into his term as New York City's chief executive, Mamdani and his team have made demonstrable progress on his banner campaign promises—freezing the rent, universal childcare, public grocery stores, fast and (eventually) free buses.

They are proving—most recently by appointing trust-busting former FTC commissioner Lina Khan to the city's Economic Development Corporation—that they are serious about making New York fair and affordable. ...

CNN – July 28, 2026 - A weeks-old Gen-Z protest group managed to get India's Modi to blink. What's next?

For more than a decade, India's leader Narendra Modi has seemed politically unassailable, presiding over a government that has outmaneuvered opponents, dominated public discourse and squeezed the space for dissent in the world's biggest democracy.

But last weekend, an online-fueled and youth-led protest movement just a few weeks old landed a blow none of the embattled mainstream political parties who oppose him have been able to: They forced his government to back down.

For days, tens of thousands of Gen Z protesters had flooded the streets of New Delhi, led by a satirical movement called the "Cockroach Janta Party", to demand accountability for a university entrance exam leak they say robbed millions of students of a fair shot at their future. In their crosshairs was education minister and trusted Modi lieutenant Dharmendra Pradhan, on whose watch the leak had happened. ...

In El-Obeid, RSF drone strikes are destroying fuel, electricity, and water that keeps the most fragile patients alive.

... But like a growing number of Sudanese victims of the war, Mahmoud's sister's death was not the direct result of an airstrike, or gunfire. Instead, she fell victim to the near-total collapse of basic infrastructure in the country as a result of calculated attacks aimed at depriving Sudanese civilians the necessities of life.

The war in Sudan has now killed somewhere between 150,000 to 400,000 people according to outside analysts, with people dying from a combination of direct violence, hunger, and lack of access to healthcare. ...

PROGRESSIVE INTERNATIONAL – July 23, 2026 – In France, Lawfare Is Used to Silence Pro-Palestine Lawmaker

MEP Rima Hassan is embroiled in trial for defending Palestinians' right to resist occupation.

French MEP Rima Hassan faced court on July 7 after two years of judicial harassment by pro-Israel groups, the Macron government, and the far right, over a deleted tweet on Palestinian self-defense, charged under "apologia for terrorism" laws. Her April detention involved illegal drug leaks later disproven, covert surveillance, and Islamophobic questioning, part of a broader campaign of lawfare, media smears, and threats to strip her nationality.

On July 7, France Insoumise Member of the European Parliament Rima Hassan will appear in court for the first time, after two years of judicial harassment from French pro-Israel organizations, Emmanuel Macron's government, and the far right. ...

... But the latest report showed that the impact on children was still devastating and by next April more than 11,000 children could face severe acute malnutrition, the most deadly form of child hunger which requires urgent treatment. Previously, 31,000 children were projected to face acute malnutrition by October this year.

These figures remain unacceptably high and fragile, said Save the Children. Without humanitarian food assistance, around 90% of Gaza's population - or 1.9 million people - would face high levels of acute food insecurity by December 2026. ...

The New York Times – July 21, 2026 - Mamdani Calls Netanyahu a 'War Criminal' and Calls on U.S. to Arrest Him

Mayor Zohran Mamdani challenged the United States to execute an international arrest warrant against Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu of Israel, which New York itself cannot do.

Mayor Zohran Mamdani on Tuesday night challenged the federal government to execute an international arrest warrant against Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu of Israel, calling him a "war criminal" and "the architect of a horrific genocide against the Palestinian people" in a striking video statement.

The mayor said the city Law Department explored whether the New York Police Department could arrest the Israeli prime minister during his expected visit to the city in September but that the city did not have "independent legal authority" to do so.

The mayor's announcement came days after he told Lulu Garcia-Navarro last week on "The Interview," a New York Times show, that he had been in "active conversation" with the city's lawyers about executing a warrant issued for Mr. Netanyahu in 2024 by the International Criminal Court.

GERMAN-FOREIGN-POLICY.com – July 20, 2026 - The new era of nuclear weapons

Germany and France launch their first military exercises for cooperation on potential French nuclear weapons deployment. But 'German bomb' discussions also continue in Berlin.

Germany and France have conducted their first concrete exercises to trial cooperation on potential French nuclear weapons deployments. On Friday the Franco-German Defence and Security Council held a meeting at Nörvenich Air Base, south-west of Cologne. The occasion was used for joint exercises in which two Mirage fighter jets from France's nuclear forces and two German Eurofighters performed coordinated flight operations, including aerial refuelling. The deployment of German military personnel as observers on a French nuclear manoeuvre is planned for this autumn. The underlying military doctrine, called by the French 'forward deterrence' ('dissuasion avancée'), was introduced by President Emmanuel Macron and publicly unveiled on 2 March. It provides for the sharing of procedures and practices with other European states, including Germany. However, participating European states are excluded from taking part in decision-making regarding the actual use of nuclear weapons, or in the planning of any nuclear strike operations. Here, Paris retains sole command, which is why Berlin had long declined to participate. Domestically, discussions are still ongoing in Germany about an exclusively 'German bomb'. ...

ICAN – July 14, 2026 - AI and the Absurdity of Nuclear Deterrence

What if algorithms don't feel fear? Nuclear deterrence isn't a military capability. It's a means of communication, intimidating the opponent's mind, making them feel afraid. As AI edges into nuclear systems, it exposes the paradox at the heart of nuclear deterrence. What if algorithms don't feel fear? Nuclear deterrence isn't a military capability. It's a means of communication, intimidating the opponent's mind, making them feel afraid. As AI edges into nuclear systems, it exposes the paradox at the heart of nuclear deterrence.

Artificial intelligence is changing how governments approach national security. It is reshaping intelligence analysis, early-warning systems, and military decision-making. Its growing role in the nuclear realm has sparked fears of a future in which machines decide to launch nuclear weapons.

That future is not here. No government or strategist is currently advocating that AI take charge of nuclear launch decisions. There is strong international agreement that these decisions must stay under human control.

But that misses the deeper issue. AI is already being woven into nuclear-related systems. AI is used in the military domain to identify missile launches, analyse sensor data, and model escalation. These integrations expose something that has always been true, nuclear deterrence has never been stable or responsible. The idea of responsible management of a genocidal capability, has always been an illusion. Nuclear deterrence relies on fear, perception, and moral contradiction. Increasing the speed of automation in these systems does not offer stability, it makes them more dangerous. ...

GERMAN-FOREIGN-POLICY.com – July 14, 2026 – Thrown off balance

Merz attends military parade to mark France's Bastille Day, but tensions rise between Berlin and Paris. Germany goes it alone on rearmament that is outpacing France – with consequences.

PARIS/BERLIN (our own report) – Rapidly growing tensions between Germany and France are overshadowing German Chancellor Friedrich Merz's trip to Paris.

He is attending France's Bastille Day military parade on Tuesday. Leading this year's 'le 14 juillet' parade are some five hundred soldiers from countries in the so-called 'Coalition of the Willing' actively supporting Ukraine. According to the Élysée Palace, the event is designed to symbolise not only "France's strategic rearmament" but, above all, "Europe's strategic awakening". Yet, Macron's invitation to Merz cannot hide the considerable resentment in Paris at Germany's recent actions. Following the decision to withdraw from the joint programme to develop a sixth-generation fighter aircraft, Berlin has launched its own domestic fighter jet project. What's more, the German side intends to push ahead with single-handedly developing the associated 'combat cloud' – rather than in collaboration with France, as had only recently been mooted. ...

Common Dreams – July 5, 2026 – Toward Dialogue and Survival in a Perilous Time

Common security lessons for the US and Russia in a world without arms control.

... The Collapse of the Arms Control Architecture

That arms control regime is now history. First came the loss of the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty almost 25 years ago. Then came the expiration of the New START Treaty. Now, President Donald Trump is obsessed with resuming nuclear-weapons testing, and both the US and Russia are moving to deploy new nuclear-capable missile systems.

Adding to nuclear dangers, Beijing is increasing its nuclear arsenal in pursuit of parity with Moscow and Washington. We are becoming three nuclear-armed scorpions in a bottle. This, together with Russian concerns about the French and British nuclear arsenals, complicates any possible future arms reduction diplomacy. The inability of the US, Russia, and China to find common ground—or even to agree on a least common denominator consensus document—was a major factor that dictated the third consecutive failure of the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty (NPT) Review Conference this past May.

The geopolitical landscape is further complicated by the US-Israeli-Iran war.

... As the Japanese A-bomb survivors and their organization Nihon Hidankyo (awarded the 2024 Nobel Peace Prize) warn, it should be obvious: “Human beings and nuclear weapons cannot coexist.” ...
